NEW SCHOOLS ARE PLANNED

Board of Education Wrestling With Problem Increasing Popmation Now Presents.

TRYING TO SELL THE BONDS.

So as to Erect Possibly Three New Buildings in Various Sections of the City.

Salt Lake City's school population is growing too rapidly to suit the convenence of the board of education. That body is now wrestling with the prob-Iem of providing accommodations for a large number of children entitled to the privileges of the free schools. To a commplish this the board is trying to sell to advantage the $250,000 in bonds recently voted but up to date has no offer that it considers wise to ac-

If the present plans are carried out

If the present plans are carried out for the coming season two and perhaps three new buildings will be erected in sections of the city where the school accommodations are not of the best. It is also proposed to enlarge the Emerson school in the southeast, the Hiverside in the southwest, the Franklin west of the Rio Grande depot and some one of the school buildings in the northeastern section of the city.

The school building that seems to be most urgently demanded is the one planned for the southern part of the city. The board of education some time ago purchased a desirable site for this building east of the Sait Paiace and just north of the Walker ball park. It is proposed to erect here a building of 12 rooms for the accommodation of the children of the relief of the Grant school which is badly overcrowded.

Mr. Metcaif is interested in Sait Lake realty, and is here to look over his property.

MURDER AT SCOFIELD

Austrian Saloon Keeper Beats Out Fellow Countryman's Brains With Piece of Scantling.

From Carbon county have come so many tales of gun play men and border ruffianism that it takes a pretty stiff story of death by violence to pass county records, but a murder committed there Saturday is given this record in the Scofield section where it occurred.

red.
Louis Loaga an Austrian, in an encounter with Jerry Bertz, another Austrian, beat out his brains and greatly disfigured his head, with only a two by four piece of scantling for a weapon.

The murdered man interfered with a dance in a saloon where Loaga was in charge. This caused Loaga to eject him, with help from others, and then Loaga followed the ejected man outside first picking up a piece of scantiling side first picking up a piece of scantling used to bar the double doors at the entrance.

In a few minutes he returned, carried the scantling behind the bar, and then started to shake dice with customers, while the dance of both men and women continued. A friend of Bertz's arrived to join the dance, and stumbled over the dead body in the doorway, Officers were notified and the salconkeeper was arrested. An inquest saloonkeeper was arrested. An inquest established the proof against Logga, and he was held with two companions, Peter Snyder and John Vitch, who are held as witnesses.

The dead man's skull was found to be crushed above the right eye, and at the base of the brain, while the neck also was broken.

Jerry Bertz was a miner employed at Winter Quarters, and was well known among the Austrians. Sheriff Keller has gone to Scofield and he will estigate the matter, and make a report, after which it is thought that legal prosecutions will follow. The front of the building where the murder occurred was considerably spattered with blood.

TUNNEL BIDS OPENED.

Land Commissioners Consider Tenders For Marysvale Reservoir Work

DEATH OF J. M. PIERCE.

Idaho Pioneer Passes Away at His Ranch in Cassia County.

A private telegram just received announces the death of Hon. J. M. Pierce at his ranch at Malta, Idaho, Sunday morning, Febb. 16. Funeral services will be held at Albion, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Pierce was one of the earliest settlers of Cassia county, and was known as one of the most successful stockmen and cattle raisers in the entire west, having been engaged in the entire west, having been engaged in this business from early boyhood until the time of his death.

He served his home county (Cassia) with honor as state senator, and has held many positions of trust. Few men were more loyal to their friends than was he, and his hospitality was free and openhearted, his home being always open to friends and strangers alike. He leaves a wife, formerly Miss Eliza Galilher, and three sons and three daughters to mourn his death.

VALE CASHIERS CHECKS

Banks Are Stoking the Furnace With The Emergency Currency Of 1907.

The Salt Lake banks through the clearing house have just withdrawn about $100,000 worth of clearing house certificates, used in settlement of the daily balances between the warlous local banking institutions and the cashier's checks are being destroyed now as fast as gathered in. The Deseret National burned up $10,000 worth of checks this morning, with the other of checks this morning, with the other banks doing the same thing. There were some $250,000 worth of these checks issued during the panic season, although nearer $360,000 worth had been printed. But they were used sparingly, and as soon as it appeared feasible, the banks began to curtail their issuance; so now they are no more. The fact that times are picking up was fillustrated yesterday, at the Zion's Savings Bank & Trust company, where $11,000 was taken out, and $15,000 put in, and 26 new accounts opened.

MEASLES RAMPANT.

Draper is the Banner Town With 400 Cases Reported.

County Supt. E. M. Whitesides of Davis county was in the city yesterday. He reports the schools of his county badly broken up as the result contagious diseases, especially measles. In Bountiful alone 350 cases of measles were reported last month, In spite of these drawbacks, Supt. Whitesides reports the schools of the county doing good work.

Draper is perhaps the banner town in Utah for measles. Supt. John W. Smith of the county schools reports 400 cases of that disease in Draper. This is interfering materially with the success of the schools.

FAVORS CONNOR MONUMENT.

Word has been received from Washington to the effect that the senate committee on library has authorized a favorable report on Senator Sutherand's bill to erect a monument in memory of General P. SOCIAL AND PF.RSONAL.

The old fashioned ball is the paramount subject in social circles, and the absorbing question is that of costume. For the ladies this is not difficult; but for the men it is more puzzling. One gentleman who put the distracting question was advised to wear his wedding suit, but demurred on the ground that it had long ago gone into a rag carpet. The prevailing idea with the promoters of the ball is that the men who have something old-fashioned at hand should wear it, and those who have not could go in evening dress thus emphasizing the difference between the old and new modes. The old-fashioned idea will, of course, prevail in all the other details. The refreshments will consist of composiprevail in all the other details. The refreshments will consist of composition tea and buttermilk, dried beef, blanc mange, cheese, cake, dried apple and peach pie, and other ancient delicacies, these to be furnished by the members of the society, who will each be expected to bring picnic in the oid-fash-loned way. The jurors were passed by the state. The prosecution used its last peremptory challenging Mr. Baysinger. He was excused and Mr. Hansen sworn.

KUHRE EXCUSED.

William D. Kuhre, a lumber dealer of Sandy, was then called to the jury box for examination. Mr. Kuhre has been a subscriber to the Evening "News" for years and occasionally reads a morning daily. Early in the game he formed an opinion as to the guilt or innodence of the defendant and still has certain impressions which would take considerable evidence to remove; the talesman hardly feels he could sit as a juror with an entirely clear mind. A challenge was interposed, unresisted, and the talesman excused.

BULLER, THE LAST. Peter Buller, a brewer, was next called, his name being drawn from the stip-box on Clerk King's desk, Mr. Buller read both organs of the "American" party, according to his own confession. He said he holds no opinion in the case. Judge Thurman passed the juror for cause.

JURY COMPLETED.

Atty. Loofbourow took up Mr. Buller's examination. The talesman said he was acquainted slightly with the Raletin family and others figuring in the case. He was passed by the state for cause and he was sworn. This was at 11:19 o'clock; the jury was completed.

CITY WINS SUIT.

Judge Lewis Rules Adversely to Complainant in Damage Case.

Salt Lake City won a victory yesterday in the decision of Judge Lewis on the demurrer in the damage suit brought against the city by Edward Simpson. Simpson and his family were driving across a bridge over the Jordan when their horse became frightened when their horse became frightened and backed the surrey off the bridge into the river. Simpson claimed that the accident was due to the fact that a number of planks were missing from the bridge. Street Supt. Raleigh testifies that the horse was frightened before he reached the bridge. Simpson brought suit against the elty on a number of grounds. It was shown that three of the causes of action were assigned to him by others and it was upon this point that Judge Lewis gave his ruling on the demurrer.

COURT NOTES.

Benjamin Fay Mills Interprets Theology of Ancient Sage Of the East.

ANSWER QUESTIONS TONIGHT.

Out of One Hundred People Queried, Only One Accepted Sermon on Mount as Rule of Life.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of Benjamin Fay Mills' work this week to intelligent people, is his fascinating interpretation of that greatest of Hindu Averent poems, "The Bagarad Gita. This afternoon, Mr. Mills is speaking on the way to transact business so as to know God as taught by the ancient Hindu sage, and tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, he will give one of the most interesting interpretations of the course on the Gita, under the title of "What Makes the World Go Round."

"What Makes the World Go Round."

Mr. Mills continued his courses of lectures to large and interested audiences yesterday, in the evening in Barratt hall. Habbi Freund presided and said it was appropriate that a Jew should introduce a speaker who was to interpret the utterances of a great Jew, who himself was an interpreter of other great Jewish prophets.

Mr. Mills' lecture on "Can Modern Men Practise the Sermon on the Mount?" was listened to with the most intense interest, and at the close scores of men and women gathered about the speaker to interrogate him and listen to his apt and striking answers.

WILL ANSWER QUESTIONS.

It was announced that, at the close of tonight's lecture on "The Golden Rule and the Rule of Gold," Mr. Mills will be prepared to answer questions from the audience. "SERMON ON THE MOUNT."
In his address last night on "Can the Twentieth Century Man Practise the Sermon on the Mount?" Mr. Mills said: "I have asked this question of 100 of the leading citizens of the United States, prominent ministers of all denominations, capitalists, and leaders in thought. Out of the answers I received I had just one that accepted this teaching as a practical rule of life, while 99 qualified their answers and most of them thought it could not be applied by the man of today.

of God.' I wondered if the inference was, which seemed to be the logical one, that we ought in order to be lawabiding citizens to observe here the laws of the kingdom of the devil.

"The question, Can men do what Jesus said?" may be answered by another question, 'Would it not be rational for men to lead lives of absolute trust and perfect love? To a man who believes that he ought to live distrustfully—that he must, distrust the unseen God or the God manifest in nature, in experience, in his fellow men or in his true self, the teachings of Jesus measure the depth of unreason or folloy. But to a soul the rationality of absolute trust as the attitude of the mind and the expression of life, these precepts indicate the heighth of sanity and he cannot but practise them.

Congressman Boutelle Delivers Tribute to Aged Statesman In House Today.

CANNON'S MAIDEN SPEECH.

Portions of Speaker's First Address Quoted by Speaker in Eulogy of Statesman as Public Servant.

Washington, Feb. 17 .- Thirty-four years ago Speaker Cannon delivered his first speech in the house of representatives, and the anniversary was narked by a tribute to the speaker by Mr. Boutell of Illinois, soon after that body met today. Mr. Boutell recalled the noted men of the house recalled the noted men of the house at that time, whose friendship Mr. Cannon enjoyed and said that among those present who heard his remarks were Speaker Blaine, Joseph R. Hawley, of Connecticut; William P. Frye and Eugene Hale, of Maine; Henry L. Dawes, E. Rochwood Hoar, George F. Hoar, Benjamin F. Butler, Julius C. Burrows, James A. Garfield, Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia: William R. Morrison, of Illinois; William S. Holman, of Indiana; Lucius Q. Lamar, of Missispippi; Richard P. Bland, of Missouri; Fernando Wood, of New York; Samuel J. Randall, of Pennsylvania, and Roger Q. Mills of Texas.

CANNON'S MAIDEN EFFORT.

CANNON'S MAIDEN EFFORT.

CANNON'S MAIDEN EFFORT.

Mr. Boutell said that Mr. Cannon, then 36 years old, spoke on a bill reducing rates of postage on books, for the carrying free of newspapers within the counties of their publication, and for the extension of the franking privilege to public correspondence.

"He made a carefully prepared, logical argument in support of the bill," said Mr. Boutell, "reinforcing his proposition by a well ordered array of convincing figures. It was a speech that could only have been made after hard work and thorough preparation." Several extracts from the speech were read by Mr. Boutell, who spoke of a gibe by a member directed at Mr. Cannon that "the gentleman must have cats in his pocket."

Cannon that "the gentleman must have cats in his pocket."

Mr. Boutell said that tumultuous applause greeted Mr. Cannon's retors, when he said: "I understand the gentleman, Yes, I have cats in my pocket and hayseed in my hair, and the western people generally are affected in the same way; and we expect that the seed, being good, will yield a good crop, I trust ten-fold; and the sooner legislation is had, not only as proposed by this bill, but in all other respects as the people desire and equity and justice shall dictate, the better it will be in the long run for all people in this country, whatever may be their calling or wherever they may reside."

CANNON AND HE PRESS.

CANNON AND HE PRESS. He said that it had been charged that the city press opposed the bill and on this point Mr. Boutelle quoted Mr. Cannon as follows: "I don't believe that the city press right of the city press will as a unit oppose this bill. A portion of it may from selfish motives, in some instances, honestly in others, I certainly have no desire to call upon myself the assaults of the city press or any portion of it. Nor do I fear it as myself the assaults of the city press or any portion of it. Nor do I fear it as long as I truly represent my constituents and act in my representative capacity for the interest of the people generally. Nor would I change the power of the press to assail my acts or those of any one else. On the other hand, every member of Congress, or other agent of the people, should court a fair criticism of his acts, and if he vitally misrepresents the people, they should and no doubt would fail to keep him in places of trust. But no man is a proper person to represent the people unless he has the honesty and the backbone to stand and do what is right and for the interest of the people, without reference to what annyone else may say of him, or what the action of the press may be in the premises."

WON HIM RESPECT.

"That speech," said Mr. Boutell, "gave Mr. Cannon a position as one of the strong men in the house and won for him the respect of his colleagues in both branches of Congress, and of the leaders in official life."

Mr. Cannon, he declared, had answered the ridicule heaped upon him by admitting that he was a country member and had oats in his pocket; "who proudly acknowledged the truth of the jest, good naturedly, silenced the jester and then refuted the insinuation of narrowness and provincialism in words elequent with the spirit of the truest statesmanship and the loftiest patriotism."

THE YIELD OF THOSE OATS

THE YIELD OF THOSE OATS. THE YIELD OF THOSE OATS.
The oats that Mr. Cannon sowed, said Mr. Boutell, were not wild oats, "and they have yielded him generous and rich returns." Mr. Boutell referred to the steady strides made by Mr. Cannon during his service as a member of the house, resulting in his election three times as speaker, and in conclusion said:

"The people of his district have conferred upon him all the honors that are in their gift to bestow, single-The people of his district have conforred upon him all the honors that are in their gift to bestow, single-handed and alone. And the thought that comes to my mind on this anniversary of our country colleague's first triumph in this house, a triumph won in the interest of the workers of the country, is simply this: How gladly within the next few months the other plain boys who live on farms or work in mines or shops will join the voters of his district to reward this, their faithful servant, who went forth in their cause 24 yeers ago with oats in his pocket, and returned bringing his sheaves with him, by conferring upon him the nation's final honor."

Mr. Boutell's remarks were punctuated throughout with loud appliause on the part of the Republicans and Demacrats alike. The first mention by him of Speaker Cannon's name caused a demonstration.

Mr. Cannon occupied the chair and seemed taken completely by surprise. Upon the conclusion of Mr. Boutell's remarks, the house and galleries, as a unit, indulged in loud and continued applause and demands for a speech by the speaker.

Everybody stood up and cheered and continued the demands until the speaker arose. Every one expected him to say something in reply but amid shricks of laughter he drolly said:

"The gentleman from New Hampshire, Mr. Sulloway, is recognized for the consideration of pension bills, Mr. Cannon turned the gavel over to Mr. Capron of Rhode Island and retired to his room, visibly affected by the demonstration which had been accorded him.

Kilpack, In her complaint Mrs. Kilpack alleges that they were married in Salt Lake City. Sept. 14, 1895, and that in October, 1899, he intentionally and victously kicked her; that in October of 1890 he struck her with his fist, and in 1907 he used vile and insulting language toward her, and afterward he struck her in the breast, from the effects of which blow she had suffered greatly. She says he constantly used threatening and vile language towards her and had failed to provide for her. Mrs. Kilpack asks for expense fees for the case besides decree of divorce.

Mrs. Kilpack's daughter, Eula Wrsy, came into considerable prominence a dozen years ago owing to a sult brought by her against Thomas Kearns, former United States senator, which created a decidedly salacious scandal at the time, and which is never referred to by the champion of the purity of the American home or his friends and hangers-on.

COYOTE HUNTER.

Successful Aspirant for Bounty Warrants Appears This Morning.

L. Marringer appeared in the county clerk's office this morning with 14 co-yote skins, on which he asked for the usual bounty allowance. The skins were inspected by the deputy clerk and two were thrown out on account of the bone in the front legs having been removed. The other 12 skins were pro-nounced O. K. and the bounty of $2.50 each, half of which is paid by the county and half by the sheepmen, was paid.

pata. Marringer said he caught part of the coyotes and shot the balance in Hark-er's and Coon's canyons.
